Getting your business through the coming months is not going to be plain sailing. Once the initial impact of COVID-19 has been alleviated, it is going to take some time for the full repercussions to present themselves.

How will the increased impact of COVID-19 on your business affect your payroll workload in the long run? And how can you give employees the best possible advice and support in these challenging times?

Dealing with the impact of an ongoing crisis

A lot of pressure has been put on small business owners since the pandemic first started. The Government may be offering some support, but there's also an expectation that business owners will keep employees in a job. It's a big responsibility and it's causing high rates of stress and worry.

According to recent research, over 66,500 employers received TWSS subsidy payments totalling €2.9 billion in respect of approximately 664,000 employees through the scheme. In addition to this, 41,200 employers registered for EWSS in total with 22,100 subsidies processed so far in 2020 totalling to €143.5 million.

If your business is struggling to keep on top of managing finances, understanding ever-changing government schemes and processing complicated payroll runs, now is the time for your business to take action.

Having an innovative payroll software that can help you with the complexities of the Wage Subsidy Scheme and ensure a smooth payroll process will help your business in the long run.

Top tips to ensure COVID-19 does not slow down your payroll performance

Reduce Business Overheads:

As businesses look at creative ways to save jobs, many are moving to reduce their business overheads. Savvy business owners have already saved thousands by opting for a payroll provider that does not have an additional charge for PAYE Modernisation, payslips or customer support. BrightPay is one of the most competitively priced payroll software on the market with no contract ties applicable.

Working from Home Policy:

Most businesses have successfully adopted a work from home policy. Your payroll software should easily facilitate remote working with additional user access. Check the costs of remote access or additional users with your payroll provider as these hidden costs can soon add up. Users can access BrightPay from 10 different locations which minimises any additional outgoings for your business.

Achieving Business Continuity in the Cloud:

In the 'new normal', employers and employees expect to access their payroll information in the cloud. Self-service online portals are changing the way employers interact and communicate with their employees. Cloud access should facilitate the ability for employers to manage their employee's annual leave, access employee payslips, run payroll reports and distribute HR documents to their employees. BrightPay Connect, our cloud add-on offers all these things whilst providing the cloud functionality to get things done smarter and faster.

Quality and Speed of COVID-19 Updates:

The Government schemes are constantly changing, and it is vital that your business can cater for the schemes well in advance of the changes being implemented. In a recent survey, BrightPay achieved 98.8% rating for our overall handling of COVID-19 including customer support, payroll upgrades, COVID-19 webinars and online support. ### Automation of EWSS Calculations in BrightPay:

Although the Employment Wage Subsidy Scheme (EWSS) is a subsidy payable to employers only and will not impact employee payslips, several steps need to be performed within the payroll software in order to operate the EWSS. As the government schemes change, BrightPay includes software functionality and step-by-step online documentation to assist users.

Mandatory COVID-19 Response Plan:

The Government published the Return to Work Safely Protocol in order to help prevent the spread of COVID-19 in the workplace as the Irish economy reopens. As part of the protocol, employers need to appoint a Lead Worker Representative, complete a COVID-19 Risk Assessment, develop a COVID-19 Response Plan, implement pre-return to work forms, keep a log of group work, review other company policies and keep up-to-date with the latest advice on returning to work. BrightPay Connect allows users to distribute pre-return to work forms and other HR documents to employees and gives the employer or manager visibility as to when the employee views the document.

Continuity Planning & The Risk of Data Loss:

Most businesses are now working remotely for the foreseeable future which leaves many businesses exposed to data loss. Do you have safeguards in place to minimise business interruption and restore your organisation to normal? One of the main advantages of having cloud access is that you can back up your payroll data instantly. BrightPay Connect will automatically backup your payroll data every 15 minutes, allowing you to restore your data should the unforeseen happen.

Automate your Payroll Workflows:

A major bottleneck for many large businesses is requesting and receiving employee hours from their department managers or line managers each pay period. This can result in numerous emails back and forth and can typically result in errors being sent. The current COVID-19 environment should be a catalyst to make the leap to automated payroll workflows that save time and reduce those errors. BrightPay Connect is designed with a facility to request hours from the various departments. Managers can upload a CSV file or manually enter the hours for employees within their department which then synchronises back to the payroll software on your desktop. From there, the payroll department can complete the payroll run and send it to the various managers for their approval through a secure online portal.

Excellent Customer Support:

During COVID-19, a common frustration for employers is poor customer support and long wait times, often resulting in customers not renewing with their payroll provider.

BrightPay's COVID-19 response plan involved additional staffing and increased hours to assist customers. Our dedicated team answered 74,000 support calls and responded to over 67,000 emails (March to September 2020); a 64% increase compared with 2019. An additional 122 hours of customer support overtime resulted in 97% of support emails being responded to within 24 hours.

Adapt Your Long-Term Business Strategy:

For many employers, the strategy is simple - stay in business with minimum job cuts. Once the initial impact of COVID-19 has been alleviated, it is going to take some time for the full repercussions to present themselves. It is wise for businesses to take action by putting in place cost savings strategies that could see additional profits. Payroll market trends are taking a dramatic shift with businesses looking for more affordable solutions but also innovative products. BrightPay is a multi-award-winning payroll software that boasts a 99% customer satisfaction rating and 5-star review, costing in a range from €159 to €319 per tax year.
